Once upon a time, there was a little leprechaun named Liam. Liam lived in a tiny house at the end of a rainbow. He loved to dance and sing, and his favorite color was green.

One day, Liam decided to go on an adventure. He wanted to find the biggest pot of gold in all of Ireland. He put on his lucky green hat and set out on his journey. Liam walked for hours and hours, but he didn't find any gold. He was getting tired and hungry, and he wished he had brought some snacks with him. Just when he was about to give up, he saw a beautiful rainbow in the distance.

Liam ran towards the rainbow, hoping it would lead him to the pot of gold he had been searching for. But when he reached the end of the rainbow, he found something even better – a group of friendly children who wanted to play with him. Liam spent the rest of the day playing games and singing songs with the children. He didn't find any gold, but he realized that having friends was more important than any treasure.

ST PATRICK'S DAY

Saint Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland. He lived during the fifth century, and is credited with having spread Christianity throughout Ireland. He is remembered for the establishment of churches, schools and monasteries.

Patrick's birth name was Maewyn Succatwas. He was born in Roman Britain. As a teenager, he was kidnapped by Irish pirates, taken to Ireland and kept as a slave for six years where he tended to sheep and pigs. After a daring escape, Maewyn returned to Britain, trained to become a priest and changed his name to Patrick. He eventually returned to Ireland as a missionary, and became a Bishop.

Modern day St Patrick's Day celebrations began in the early 18th century. It is believed that St Patrick died on the 17th of March, hence celebrations are observed on this day annually. It was only after the Irish Rebellion in 1798 that the colour green became associated with the day. Many additional secular traditions have become associated with St Patrick's Day since.
